

Stations Analysis

TOP 10 Busiest Stations in NYC

TOP 10 Busiest Stations in NYC--Bar Chart

- 42nd St station is the busiest station in NYC as it is located in the central hub in Manhattan and is connected to different lines.
- Eight out of the ten busiest stations are located in Manhattan, while only two Queens stations (74 St-Broadway/Jackson Heights-Roosevelt Ave and Flushing Main St) make the top 10 with approximately 39-40k daily riders each, highlighting the concentration of high-traffic stations in Manhattan's business districts.

Temporal Trends

Daily Ridership pattern, Filtered by Borough is Manhattan

Weekly Ridership Patterns

- Ridership data from April 2024 to April 2025 shows clear seasonal drops during summer months and Christmas period.
- Weekly ridership data shows drop during the weekend.

OMNY or Metrocard?

OMNY (One Metro New York), the contactless tap-and-go payment system, continues to grow in popularity, although traditional Metrocard is still the most used method.